View Notification Recipients

When composing a notification, you can now retrieve a list of the intended recipients. The list includes all contacts that were added as individuals, groups, organizations, and/or external contacts, and identifies the associations or way they were added. Although contacts may have been added to the notification more than once (for example, through a group and an organization), they are only listed and contacted once.

Notification Sorting

Sent, draft, and template notifications are, by default, listed according to the date they were created or modified. Now, you can sort them by any column on the page.

Resolutions

Minor resolutions related to usability were completed.
