About Preferences

Home > EMResource > Guide - Preferences > About Preferences

Preferences are the settings that help you manage your EMResource account. Although every person has access to Preferences, the menu options vary according to the features enabled in the solution, as well as the person's roles and rights.

The following table describes possible options in the Preferences menu.

Preference	Description
Event Notification	Select the notification methods (email, text, pager, mobile app, or web page) for the types of events available in your region, including your region's ad hoc events. You can also choose to limit some event notifications to only notify you about events that involve resources you are associated with.
Status Chang e Prefs	Locate resources and select how you receive status change notifications for them and the sub-resources to which you have access.  • For numeric status types, you can set upper and/or lower thresholds. For example, you can choose to be notified via email if a particular status type value is above 3.  • Email notifications include the name of the resource and, when appropriate, the sub-resource.  • For more information, go to the articles Update Resource Statuses and Notifications.
System Notification	Select the notification methods (email, text pager, mobile app, or web page) for expired status, incident command system (ICS), incoming patient (IPN), and general system notifications.
Reset Password	Enter your current password to create and confirm a new password.
Security Question	Only available for some accounts, the security question allows you to select a question and enter the answer, along with a valid email address, as a security measure to help you retrieve your credentials in case you forget your password.
Customized View	Create and configure a custom view by adding sections, searching for and selecting resources, reordering and sorting resources, as well as specifying display options. Also, you can choose to make this your default view.
User Info	Opens your profile for editing; allows you to make and save changes.