The contacts appear in the depth charts for the same positions as in the original plan. Copying can save you time since you may have fewer positions assignments to set up or change for the new plan. If you assigned any candidates to the new plan before copying from the original, the copied assignments are merged with the existing assignments.

The confirmation message indicates the number of positions and groups that were copied, including those that were copied even when there were no associated contacts to copy.

Note: If a position or group does not exist in both plans, no updates are made to that element. In this case, you need to manually assign candidates from within the new plan.
