Every page in your solution contains certain elements that orient you to the information presented and simplify navigation. In the following example, standard page elements are identified with numbers that are described in the subsequent table.

A screenshot of the EMSupply web application's 'Manage Inventory' page. The page has a top navigation bar with links for 'Inventory', 'Settings', 'SNS', 'Incidents', and 'Requests and Shipments'. Below this is a sub-navigation bar with 'Notifications', 'Manage Inventory', and 'Maintenance'. The main content area shows a table of inventory items with columns for 'Line Item', 'Category', 'Sublocation', 'Par', 'On Hand', 'In Kits', and 'Status'. The table lists various medical supplies like Amoxicillin and Ciprofloxacin. At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with copyright information and links to 'Privacy Policy' and 'Terms and Conditions'. Numbered callouts (1-7) are placed over the page to identify specific elements: 1 points to the 'EMSupply' link in the top bar; 2 points to the user profile 'Maleah Thor'; 3 points to the 'Log Out' link; 4 points to the 'Help' link; 5 points to the 'Contact' link; 6 points to the 'Requests and Shipments' link; and 7 points to the 'Maintenance' link in the sub-navigation bar.
